The New Mexico & Arizona Book Awards

The First 10 Years

In the past ten years, the New Mexico-Arizona Book Awards has given out 1,968 awards, recognizing 1,210 titles/authors. Quite an accomplishment for an entirely volunteer collaborative organization. In addition, the New Mexico-Arizona Book Awards has donated almost 10,000 books to libraries and literacy programs.

Introduction

It was one of those things that had to be done because everyone around us had a book awards programs. We do celebrate books in New Mexico. The Enchanted Book Awards by the New Mexico Library Association honors books from anywhere. The New Mexico Press Women's Association has books (a few categories) in their Communications Contest. But there was no book awards in all categories for New Mexico Books. The New Mexico Book Association Design Awards came about years later.

So ten years ago, the New Mexico Book Awards was begun. The criteria to enter is the books must have been written by a New Mexico author, published by a New Mexico publishing company, or significantly about New Mexico. Five years later Arizona was added to the mix. As part of the program, awards are given to people, organizations, and bookstores that have gone above and beyond. Iconic New Mexico authors are honored like Tony Hillerman, Anne Hillerman, Denise Chavez, Rudolfo Anaya, David Morrell, Nasario Garcia, Max Evans, and Don Bullis, among others.

Bookstores that pride themselves on having local authors talk and sign are honored like Bookworks, Treasure House, and Derek Buschman of the defunct Borders chain. SouthWest Writers won for their help for beginners. UNM Press' John Byram won for bringing the book publishing industry in New Mexico to the forefront and to acknowledge the largest book publisher in New Mexico. Pat Hodapp won for her support of the Santa Fe Libraries, other libraries in New Mexico, and New Mexico books. She also is a staunch advocate of reading. The awards have been called: Friends of New Mexican Books, Friends of New Mexican Authors, and the New Mexican Literary Award. Radio shows, websites, and book reviewers have also been honored.

In 2012, the Arizona book publishers group unexpectedly went belly up. With just a few weeks notice, the New Mexico Book Awards brought in Arizona, to celebrate the Arizona and New Mexico Centennials. Arizonians took to it so completely that it has remained in the Awards with some ONLY Arizona categories. Books are judged on their own merit with almost 100 judges all over the country. Ebooks were added in 2015.

A group of authors, publishers, and bookstore experts devised the judging sheet and categories. A group of advisers vote on each year's special awards. Each book is judged by at least three judges and as many as nine. There are even children judges for the kid's books. The scores are entered into a computer and the results are printed out. Covers are judged by a group of judges at a restaurant in July-August. No judge ever judges their own book.

Individuals or publishers may enter the Awards

Program. The Finalists are announced in September at the New Mexico Book Co-op lunch then put online. All Winners except Friends of New Mexico Authors and Books and Literary awards are a secret and announced at the banquet in November.

First time authors, self-published authors, books from big book publishers in New York City, books from small publishers, and local book publishers have all gotten awards. All books are treated equally. Single authors and groups working on a book have been honored. It doesn't matter who the author is. The only consideration is if the book is good or great. Winners receive a tasteful trophy and have the opportunity to buy stickers as do Finalists. One dog has won three awards – Travelin' Jack.

Winners are celebrated and announced at the November banquet. The banquet has been held at MCM Elegante Hotel, Hotel Albuquerque, and now Tanoan Country Club. The "Vannas" were a pleasant accident that has remained. They pass out the trophies to the winners of each category. Gloria Bullis, Sabra Brown Steinsiek, Jill Lane, and recently Loretta Hall are the "Vannas." Paul Rhett has acted as the MC every year; Gary Herron and the late Terrie Q. Sayer pitched in at two of the awards banquets.

Businesses, authors, publishers, organizations, and libraries sponsor a category to donate money to make the Awards work. Without them it would be expensive to send books to judges.

Another accident is the auction that has grown and the money raised defrays the costs of trophies and postage. All entered books are donated to libraries in Arizona and New Mexico, literacy programs, the Historical Society of New Mexico, Native American libraries, and schools. One year, books were donated to a Louisiana library with hurricane damage. NO BOOK IS THROWN AWAY.

The New Mexico & Arizona Book Awards celebrate the best in books for the region. It is our way of saying don't ignore local books.
