Hoe, Heaven, and Hell: My Boyhood in Rural New Mexico by Nasario Garcia

Description: As a boy in Ojo del Padre, a village in the Rio Puerco Valley northwest of Albuquerque, Garcia grew up the way rural New Mexicans had for generations. His parents built their own adobe house, raised their own food, and brought up their children to respect the old ways. In this memoir, Garcia reveals an unforgettable account of New Mexico history and culture.

Complete Santa Fe Bucket List by Pat Hodapp

Description: [This] makes me smile and reminds me of many of the reasons I love Santa Fe. Hodapp combines a librarian's obsession for getting things right with her passionate, on-going love affair with her adopted home town. This gem of a book offers unique and valuable suggestions for visitors and locals, things to see and do for all ages, in all price ranges, throughout our fascinating ancient city. Her recommendations include places to eat — one of my personal favorite ways to explore any city. Written with witty prose and honest personal insights, this useful little guide combines fun and facts in a delightful way. I highly recommend it. — Anne Hillerman

MARY DONOHO: New First Lady on the Santa Fe Trail by Marian Meyer

Description: Mary Donoho was the first woman to survive the rugged and grueling crossing of the Santa Fe Trail in 1833. Donoho, "the new first lady of the Santa Fe Trail" was a woman of uncommon substance who lived in Santa Fe until the 1837 Perez Rebellion and then moved with her husband to Clarksville, Texas. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Donoho ran the 'legendary' Donoho Hotel in Clarksville, Texas, and raised her six children. Her life lives up to the image of the undaunted pioneer woman of the past.

War of the Planet Burners by Dennis Herrick

Description: Humans fight extinction in "War of the Planet Burners," a sci-fi novel about interplanetary alien invasion in the near future. The Master Intelligence came to harvest what it needed from Earth. It sent its slave warriors to fight anyone who resisted. The aliens killed almost all humans and destroyed technology by eliminating electricity. That tactic had suppressed resistance on other occupied planets. But humanity wouldn't give up.

What Lasts Is The Breath by Janet Eigner

Description: These poems chart one mother's ten-year elegiac walk through grief for her daughter. Each experience of wisdom from several spiritual traditions in the Southwest, in Jewish mysticism, in the Sufi Middle East, begins to coalesce as one strong metaphor about shattering and restoration of wholeness. Poet Eavan Boland, Read these powerful poems with so much attention and respect... a quirky power and music... something powerfully particular about these, very persuasive.
