Fatal Winds by Roberta Summers

Description: Young physicist, Reese Mayfield, applies his genius to developing the first atomic bomb. The atom speaks warning scientists of its power. When Reese learns the effect of radioactive fallout on people, he's deeply disturbed. Despite evidence, and in a flagrant abuse of power and cover-ups, the government denies culpability when cancer clusters occur, children being the most vulnerable. The U. S. must win the Cold War.

Grace in the Wings by Kari Bovee

Description: When Ziegfeld Follies costume designer Grace Michelle's sister, Ziegfeld's brightest star, dies mysteriously, Grace steps from behind the curtain of her introversion and shyness into the bright lights of Broadway fame to find the truth—only to learn that someone might be out to get her, too. "Not one page of this captivating tale bores, whether it's the latest scandal hitting the Follies or a glance between Grace and Chet. The perfect blend of noir mystery, romance, action, and historical fiction, with a few comedic moments thrown in, This is a page-turning 1920s mystery set against the smoky and sometimes seedy world of the famous Ziegfeld Follies." —Indie Reader
